

What Can I Do With a Major In... FORENSIC SCIENCE

This degree is intended to provide you with a well-rounded, hands-on forensic science education in order to prepare you for entrance into a graduate-level educational program, and/or entry-level professional careers in public and private forensic laboratories, federal, state, or local government/law enforcement, military, homeland security, and intelligence agencies.

AREAS AND OPPORTUNITIES

- Arson Investigator
- Biological Technician
- Bloodstain Pattern Analyst
- Computer Forensic Investigator
- Coroner
- Crime Lab Tech
- Crime Scene Investigator
- Crime Scene Photographer
- Detective
- Document Examiner
- Evidence Technician
- Forensic Accountant
- Forensic Anthropologist
- Forensic Artist
- Forensic Ballistic Tech
- Forensic Biologist
- Forensic Chemist
- Forensic DNA Analyst
- Forensic Nurse
- Forensic Odontologist
- Forensic Pathologist
- Forensic Psychologist
- Forensic Science Technician
- Forensic Social Worker
- Medical Scientist
- Medicolegal Death Investigator
- Police Officer
- Polygraph Examiner
- Toxicologist

EMPLOYERS

- Crime Labs
- Diagnostic Labs
- Homeland Security
- Hospitals
- Intelligence Agencies
- Investigation and Security Services
- Medical Labs
- Military
- Pharmaceutical Firms
- Police Departments
- Private Investigation Firms
- Psychiatric Hospitals
- Public Health Departments
- Research Institutions
- Substance Abuse Facilities

RELATED SKILLS

- Attention to Detail
- Composure
- Critical Thinking
- Data Analysis
- Observation
- Patience
- Problem-Solving
- Statistical Awareness
- Strong Communication
- Teamwork
- Technical Skills
- Time Management
- Work Under Pressure