

Living Learning Community Mentor Position

Position Description & Information
2018-2019 Academic Year

"Learning at Curry extends beyond the classroom and is embedded in all that we do."

The First-Year Living Learning Communities (LLC) Program at Curry College allows students to collaborate with faculty, staff, and other first-year students as they complete required courses and investigate a common theme both in-and-out of the classroom. The LLC experience is one that is holistic and integrates participants' classroom and residential experiences. Participants are asked to challenge themselves as they engage in discussions, lectures, activities, and community events throughout the year.

With approximately 100 students participating in the First-Year LLCs, the collaboration between academic affairs, faculty, and Residence Life & Housing student and professional staff is an integral part of this experience. As such, the LLC Mentor role was developed to be an active collaborator and an essential member of the LLC leadership team.

Things you should know about Curry College Living Learning Communities:

- Passion drives learning. Professors lead four First Year LLCs (First Year Honors, Communication Scholars, Science Scholars, and Health Careers) and are passionate in their area of scholarly work.
- Learning as a cohort. Students in LLCs take two or more courses together around a theme during both fall and spring semesters.
- Bridging in-and-out of classroom experiences. LLCs only work when classroom learning is supported in the residence halls and the two experiences are infused into one.
- Networking is expected. From connections with faculty, guest speakers, Residence Life & Housing staff, to students and others, members of the LLC will strengthen their personal networks (as will mentors).
- An environment for all. Diversity and inclusion are more than just buzz words here. We value it and seek mentors from all walks of life.
- A flexible approach. Your week will largely be unstructured and certain times of the academic year will require more than others. A large part of your job is non-scheduled, spontaneous, and will be determined by the needs of the Living Learning Community and its residents.
- Quality is key. We have high expectations, and it shows in our work. We'll hold you to them, but only because we know you can handle it.
- It's all about our residents. All members involved in LLC leadership do what we do and appreciate why we do it because we want to provide the very best experience for our LLC participants.

Cool! But, what do Living Learning Community Mentors actually do?

A LLC Mentor is an essential leader within their specific LLC. This position was specifically designed to focus time, effort, and energy on connecting and bridging the classroom experience into the residence hall.

- Walk the walk and talk the talk. A LLC Mentor is a person who genuinely cares about others, inspires respect, role models positive behavior, and communicates well with others.
- There's always something as part of the LLC. In addition to bonding with LLC residents, you'll be expected to work with the course professor(s) to plan and implement one (1) LLC theme-based program per month for residents to learn and hang out with one another.
- Connecting the dots. You'll be present and available to LLC participants for two (2) hours/week either in class, in North Campus Residence Hall (NCRH), or a combination of both. Availability means being present for study sessions, assistance with class research projects, and/or assisting with other academic and social programs for the LLC. You'll serve as a resource within the LLC experience and help point students in the right direction for support.

- It's all about the team. You'll be part of a leadership team of professors, Residence Life & Housing staff, and other LLC Mentors dedicated to enhancing the student experience. As part of the leadership team you'll meet once per month with Dr. Si Pearman (Professor and First Year Coordinator), Dan Cline (Assistant Director of Residence Life), and Mia-Kay Fuller (Community Director) to discuss your experiences, get ideas, and learn methods for connecting the classroom and residence hall experiences.
- Talk it out. Whether communicating with the professor(s), Community Director, Resident Assistants, or residents, you'll be at the center of communication on a regular basis.
- We'll support you! LLC Mentors report directly to the LLC professor(s) as well as the Community Director where the LLC is housed.

If you can check off these boxes, you are an ideal candidate:

- ☐ Full-time student. You must plan to be a full-time matriculating student with no less than 12 credit hours per semester and plan to live on campus for the 2018-2019 academic year.
- ☐ Previous experience. Candidates will have participated in the LLC they are applying for during their first year at Curry College.
- ☐ Sophomore year. Candidates will be a sophomore during the 2018-2019 academic year and willing to live in NCRH (with other sophomore year residents) close to their LLC participants.
- ☐ In good standing. Candidates must be in good academic, financial, and student conduct standing with the College.
- ☐ Living on campus. Candidates will plan to live on campus and have a desire to live in NCRH near the LLC participants.
- ☐ 150%! You are willing to go the extra mile for LLC participants.

Let's talk numbers:

- $500.00 stipend paid bi-weekly
- That's a total of $1,000.00 for the academic year

Let's sweeten the deal a little more...

- Find a friend who will be a sophomore next year as well and bypass Housing Selection. LLC Mentors will have a room in NCRH already assigned to them and their friend before Housing Selection in April.
- Getting the leg-up on others and gain necessary skills that employers are looking for from college graduates (National Association of Colleges and Employers – NACE)
 - Ability to communicate with persons inside and outside the organization
 - Ability to work in a team structure
 - Ability to make decisions and problem solve
 - Ability to plan, organize, and prioritize work
 - Ability to influence others
